

Gain real-time insights into your construction project data anytime, anywhere, from any device.

The ability to understand where money is flowing on your construction project - whether you are managing the job site or in the accounting office - is essential to the financial health of your entire business. The Procore-built connector for Acumatica paired with Acumatica's superior field capabilities allow you a 360° view of vital project data and finances.

Increase profitability, productivity, and collaboration between the field and office.

Acumatica Construction Edition with the Procore-built connector gives teams in the field and office the ability to share vendor, project, budget, commitment, change order, and project profitability data with just one click. This allows key users to make more informed decisions that positively impact the bottom line. The ability to input and receive data anytime, anywhere, on any device, and synchronize between platforms means greater efficiency and more time for other tasks: no more entering the same information in two different systems. In addition, communication between the platforms supports improved collaboration between teams working in the office and on the job site.

KEY BENEFITS

REAL-TIME PROJECT INSIGHTS

See your project cash flow, profitability, and where your project is making and losing money in real-time.

ELIMINATE INFORMATION SILOS

Gain efficiency within your organization with synchronized field and office records for vendors, commitments, and change orders.

REDUCE DATA ERRORS AND DOUBLE-ENTRY

The Procore-built connector for Acumatica synchronizes inputs between platforms: eliminating costly errors and saving time.
